Research Interests

I am an HCI researcher who discovers the stories of people pushing boundaries in virtual worlds. I see the worlds not as substitutes for reality but as spaces where interaction, creation, and self-expression emerge in unique ways. Currently, I investigate avatar-mediated experiences of creators and audiences in live streaming, virtual concerts, and social VR [c.1–c.3, u.1]. This interest stems from my experience creating and producing the virtual idol group Verse'day [d.1]. My goal is to develop immersive environments and novel interaction designs that support meaningful and fulfilling experiences beyond the physical world.

Research Experience

Jan 2023 – Present — Enhanced Experience Lab (33Lab), Soongsil University, Seoul, Korea
Research Assistant with Jungjin Lee

- Understanding VTubers' Creative Practices
  Examined VTubers' production setups, creative workflows, and challenges through thematic analysis of semi-structured interviews and content analysis of online materials [c.3].
- Understanding Audience Experiences in Virtual Concerts
  Investigated how viewing formats and music genres influence audience experiences in virtual avatar concerts through a user study [c.1], and fans' shared emotions in live-streamed concerts through focus groups [c.2].
- Exploring Embodied Learning in Social VR
  Studied how avatar embodiment and self-expression shape dance learning through surveys, observations, and semi-structured interviews, analyzed with affinity diagramming [u.1].
